in-house, which allows them to provide a superior service to their clients. Their long-list of testimonials is there to prove it.

Their busiest six months to date was from January to June 2017, with their current contracts totalling £82 million. Currently building 15 projects across Northern Ireland and the UK, right from Ballymena to Mayfair- the team of experts consistently deliver the finest properties in terms of location, quality and design.

Completing an average of one house per day- handovers have commenced at EHA's Belfast Road, Bangor project, where 106 homes are being built.

In partnership with Choice Housing Association, this development meets the diverse needs of a wide range of occupiers including older people, families and those with complex needs.

Hugh McNally, Development Officer at Choice Housing Association commented:

"From the beginning it was clear that EHA understood Choice's vision for the project. EHA's Contracts Manager brought a wealth of social housing experience to the table. This experience was instrumental in the co-ordination and management of the many and varied issues that inevitably arise on a building project of this scale."

EHA's private housing development Huntingdon Hill on the Barnfield Road, Co. Derry, will provide 46 luxury houses. They are also refurbishing a Victorian townhouse for overseas royalty in London's exclusive Mayfair.

The Grade II listed townhouse is located in a heritage conservation area, often referred to in Oscar Wilde plays, requiring careful preservation. The fit-out includes custom furniture and a bespoke handmade kitchen, all designed and manufactured in EHA's state-of-the-art workshop in Eglinton.

So it is clear that EHA Group have the ability to envision a future for each of their clients, considering their individuality, their needs and their tastes. And to ensure this, the company guarantees that their team are constantly developing their skills, as in the pursuit of perfection, there is no room for mistakes. And EHA Group don't make any- their team of professionals are well equipped to solve any problems that may arise on site and provide you with a service that goes above and beyond what you ever expected. ■
